LOCAL NEWS OF SONOMA AND IMMEDIATE VICINITY

Happenings in Town of General Interest---What Our Merchants Offer in the Way of Trade Inducements

Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Gottenberg were over-Sunday visitors in San Francisco.

Mrs. Carrie Burlingame was among the Sonoma visitors in San Francisco the first of the week.

For Sale—A gentle, buggy horse, suitable for family use. Apply at this office.

Mrs. Henry Wicker returned from a several days' visit in San Francisco, Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lowell were numbered among many other Sonoma visitors in San Francisco Wednesday.

For Rent—Building suitable for store or office, next to J. Lucio's shoe shop, near postoffice. Inquire H. E. Caldenwood.

Miss Mary Valente returned to San Francisco, Sunday afternoon. Her visit of a fortnight here with relatives and friends proved most pleasurable.

Among the prominent Sonoma residents in San Francisco during the week were Mrs. F. T. Duhring, Mrs. Robt. Hall, Mrs. Henry Bates and Mrs. J. D. Cooper.

Lois, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Appleton came up from her home in Berkeley, Monday evening, to visit with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Appleton.

Rev. J. Henry Oehlhoff, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, has been in San Francisco during the week, attending the summer school for Bible study at Grace Cathedral.

John F. Picetti paid a business visit to San Francisco Thursday. Our enterprising furniture dealer was purchasing new goods for his already splendidly stocked establishment.

Pete Perazzo had the pleasure of entertaining his friend, John Trabucco, who came up from San Francisco for the celebration. Jack has many friends in this city who were glad to greet him.

Mrs. Jack Smith, Misses Margaret and Nan Burke and Kate McDonell passed Wednesday most delightfully, motoring to Guerneville. The ladies are lavish in their praises of the scenic beauties of the redwood district.

Amasa W. Arnold was here from Santa Rosa, Monday, for a few hours' visit with Mine Host Frank Koenig of the Union. Mr. Arnold is a prominent Santa Rosan and, with his warm and old-time friend, Frank Koenig, was a charter member of Santa Rosa Lodge of Elks.

Lost—On Monday of last week, somewhere in the neighborhood of the Monument, it is believed, a map descriptive of old Burris place, comprising ninety odd acres. Was encased in heavy brown paper roll. Finder please return to owner, E. H. Johansen.

Loyd Hotz is introducing his bride of but a few months to his many Sonoma friends, the couple arriving here Thursday evening, from Seattle, Wash. Mr. and Mrs. Hotz expect to remain in California, although they may not become residents of our city. A host of friends are glad to greet Loyd and his charming young wife.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Pera, Mr. and Mrs. M. Gori, L. and E. Basaglia spent Sunday and Monday visiting in San Francisco and Antioch. Mrs. Pera formerly resided in Antioch and noted many substantial improvements in that thriving city. The party enjoyed the trip immensely.

On Sunday last, the Misses Louise and Adele Lemoine, who had been guests at the home of their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. A. Froment, returned to San Francisco. The young ladies were accompanied by their cousins, Misses Eugenie and Antoinette Froment, who will spend several weeks in the metropolis.

Messrs. L. Nessi and Frank Canaveri have been spending the week at Fort Bragg in attendance at the Grand Lodge of Druids. A movement is in hand to establish at Glen Ellen a Druids' Home, on the property owned by the Grand Grove in our thriving sister city. Many of the leading members of the order incline very favorably to the proposition, and it is expected that at this week's session, the building project will be decided upon.

Dr. Irving C. Gobar and Contractor Ralph Murphy paid a business visit to the metropolis, the fore part of the week.

Mrs. J. Serres came up from San Francisco, Wednesday, and spent the day with her son, J. P. Serres, at El Verano.

Wanted—By the Sonoma Valley Canning Company, at Buena Vista, all varieties of green fruits, for which the highest market prices will be paid.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Hyde and little son and daughter, Hugh and Jean, are up from their home in Berkeley, enjoying a vacation at the old home on the Hyde tract.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. B. Small were well-known Sonoma residents in San Francisco. They were guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. John Sholden.

Mrs. B. Bordsen and children have been enjoying a visit for a fortnight past with relatives in Kingsburg and Selma, Fresno County. The family will return next week.

Miss Arvilla Revie has received cordial welcome from relatives and her legion of friends in this valley, she having returned from a six months' visit with relatives in Scotland. Miss Revie found her stay midst the bonny banks and braes delightful, but is glad to be at home again.

The following-named young people were graduated from the local grammar grade, last term, and with the re-opening of school expect to take up the high school course: Ethel Evans, Gladys Shields, Geo. Cooper, Kenneth Darling, Walter Fitts, Ethel Shane, Antoinette Froment, Doreles Breitenbach, Rodney Prestwood.

We are pleased to note that Jos. Groskopf is convalescing, and will be able to resume the activities of life next week. The young man had been very ill for more than a fortnight, ptomaine poisoning following the eating of canned deviled ham. Other complication set in, but Mr. Groskopf's physician, Dr Irving C Gobar, reports his patient as well on the road to recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack London returned to their beautiful home at Glen Ellen, Friday of last week from Vera Cruz. The renowned novelist has almost entirely recovered from the acute attack of dysentery from which he suffered while at Vera Cruz, and with the comfort and delightful surroundings prevailing at Wake Robin Lodge, the author of the "Valley of the Moon" looks forward to the full recovery of his health and a period of restful enjoyment

Friday morning of last week, at the State Hospital at Eldridge, Edward L. Connally was found dead in bed. An inquest was held, the jury finding that death resulted from natural causes. Of the deceased but little is known. He was about sixty two years of age, and been doing porter work at the institution, and was a man of quiet demeanor and inoffensive habits The remains were interred Monday in the Catholic Cemetery.

A most enjoyable family gathering was held at the comfortable home of Mrs. Sarah Baines, at El Verano, Tuesday. Music was the feature of the occasion, the solo, „Killarney," being beautifully rendered by Miss Emily Kearney. Other entertaining musical numbers were given by Misses Irene and Hazel Baines. The wittiisms of Mrs. Johanna Jones, of Oakland, who is the guest of Mrs. T. H. Baines, were a greatly enjoyed source of entertainment. During the afternoon, delicious chocolate and cake were served, and all present voted the occasion decidedly enjoyable.

Miss Hazel Gies, a former popular Sonoma young lady, is here from San Francisco, a patient at the Broadway Sanitarium. Six weeks ago, while sojourning at Willow Camp, Marin County, in crossing a style, Miss Gies slipped and fell, breaking her right arm. The injury had not been properly attended to, however, the bone not knitting in correct position, necessitating re-breaking and re-setting. With perfect faith in the fine surgical skill of Dr. A. M. Thomson, Miss Gies came to our city to have the arm reset, the operation being performed, on Monday, by Dr. Thomson, assisted by Dr. W. B. Hays. Miss Gies is doing splendidly—a fact her legion of friends will note with pleasure.

The Sunday School of Trinity Church and St. Barbara's Guild will hold their annual picnic next Tuesday, near Cooper's bridge, on Sonoma Creek. A large attendance is expected.

A letter received by H. Watters, Saturday night last, announces the arrival of Rev. and Mrs. T. M. Price at Fort Dodge, Iowa, where they will spend six weeks visiting their son, who is a prominent attorney of that city. During the absence of its zealous and highly esteemed pastor, the pulpit of the Congregational Church is occupied by Rev. Caskey.

J. H. Murray will again engage in business, he having had erected a shop erected next the garage on his residence place—known as the old Perkins home, corner of Napa and Spain streets, on the road to Boyes' Springs. There isn't a better blacksmith in the county than accommodating Jack Murray, and scores of old-time customers will be glad to hunt him up at his new location.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Simmons, Miss Gladys and Ellis Simmons returned from a week's motor trip Monday last. The party sojourned at Blue Lakes, Lakeport and other points while away, and report a delightful outing. They were accompanied by J. W. Simmons—a brother of Sonoma's popular pharmacist—who with his son, Wyatt, motored up from their home in Los Angeles to enjoy the notable celebration and visit with relatives.

The ladies comprising the membership of the Bride-Whist Club found pleasant relaxation in the indulgence of their favorite pastime, Thursday of last week. Mrs. Wm. Clewe was hostess of the afternoon—an ideal one, by-the-way. The arrangement of the delightful Clewe home affords charming entertainment, and was very attractive with the addition of an effective arrangement of Shasta daisies and greenery. Miss Anna Pemberton carried off the honors of the afternoon and the four linen towels, awarded as prize.

The annual grand opening of "The Oaks," last Saturday night was largely attended, many town residents going out to the pleasantly situated resort to enjoy the hospitality provided by its accommodating hostess, Mrs. Farrell. The affair was very nicely conducted, dancing being the feature of entertainment, with splendid music furnished by the Pauli-Gottenberg Orchestra. Prizes for best waltzing were deservedly awarded to a guest at the resort, Mrs. Search, and Jep Valente. Jep is one of the most scientific and graceful dancers in the valley.

A sad occurrence of last week was the demise of Mrs. Nathalma Marzi, who passed away at Glen Ellen last Saturday morning. Deceased, suffering from tuberculosis, had gone from her home in San Francisco to Glen Ellen, clinging vainly to the hope that Sonoma climate would afford the relief that medical aid failed to accomplish, but without avail. Four little children were pitably left motherless, when death summoned Mrs. Marzi and their baby helplessness adds immeasurably to the sorrow of the bereaved husband. The remains were laid away in Catholic Cemetery Sunday.

Mrs. Grace B. Caukin, for years a resident of Berkeley, has been recognized in a very substantial and deserved way for the efficient club and political service rendered by her for many years, she having been appointed receiver of the United States Land Office. Mrs. Caukin and her husband are well and favorably known here, they owning a summer home on the Lewis tract, which they will occupy at intervals. Their permanent residence, however, will henceforth be in the metropolis. The preferment conferred on Mrs. Caukin meets with general public approbation. No woman in public life has been more intelligently active or secured better effects in civic movements than she, and in club circles the name of Mrs. Grace B. Caukin, heads the list of women who have achieved results.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Johansen and family have returned to the Sonoma Valley, and again taken up their residence in our midst, greatly to the satisfaction of a wide cirle of friends. The Johansens have purchased from John Batto twenty acres of land, a part of what is known as the old Ladlee place, in the eastern part of Vineburg. Within a few weeks, Mr. Johansen will have erected thereon a comfortable six-room bungalow, with modern improvements. In the meantime he and his family are enjoying camp life, with the exception of Gertrude, the twelve-year-old daughter of the house, who for a week has been prostrated with measles. These desirable residents are greatly pleased to again be with us.

WHAT OUR NEAR-BY NEIGHBORS ARE DOING.

Week's Budget of News Notes From Progreessiv Sonoma Valley Towns.

VINEBURG

Among the guests entertained at the John Batto residence, Sunday and Monday, were Dr. and Mrs. John Davidson and Mr. and Mrs. N. Bacigalupi of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. P. Wilson and Mrs. N. Bouchero of Napa.

Fred and Arthur Batto took Wednesday morning's train for a business trip through the southern part of the State, and expect to be gone about a week.

The first car of this year's crop of choice white Sonora wheat, containing twenty-five tons, arrived at Batto's Spur, on Tuesday, from Corcoran, Fresno county.

Steve Griffith departed, Tuesday morning, for San Francisco, to enter the St. Francis Hospital for medical treatment.

Our well-known mixologist, H. Paape, was called to the metropolis Friday of last week, on account of the serious illness of his mother, Mrs. Nelson Townsend. He returned, Sunday morning, reporting the lady much improved, which was good news to her many friends in this vicinity.

W. H. Curry transacted business in the bay cities Tuesday last.

On Wednesday of this week, H. Shalif, who owns a fine orchard near the Cooper bridge, shipped to San Francisco a consignment of choice Gravenstein apples. Three tiers to the box "Sebastopole,"—about that?

Hay-baling and fruit-packing are now in full blast in this section of the valley. Gus Rouque has a fine hay press in the field, manned by a star crew. George McGill and Tony Silvia also have a fine outfit, handled by hay-balers who are experts—lads who will hold the hay stacks down, knowing their business from start to finish.

The Box Car Improvement Club will meet on Sunday morning next it an empty box car can be found. Business of vital importance will come before the bunch

Misses Jessie Hiser of Sonoma, of San Francisco, were guests of Mrs. Arthur Batto, Sunday last.

From all reports and judging by the preparations being made under the personal supervision of our new and progressive citizen, A. W. Lehrke, the glorious Fourth will be the grandest ever witnessed in this part of the valley. There will be racing on the New Vineburg race track for owners only, with professionals barred. There will be trotting and pacing events with nothing lighter allowed than a "Petaluma" road cart Running races, cowboy races, farm team races, four-horse team races, etc., steer racing and brancho busting, fat men's, fat women's, boys' and girls' races; greased pig, three-legged, egg races, etc., for which $1000 in cup trophies and coin will be put up as prizes. At night there will be a fine display of fireworks, and on Sunday a bullshead breakfast and grand barbecue at noon, prepared by E. Griffith and Senor Augustine Janrez, both experts and natives of Sonoma county.

EASY JIM.

SCHELLVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jacobsen, of San Erancisco, spent the week-end at their country home here

Mr. and Mrs. H. Hopke entertained relatives at their home at "Olinda" this week.

Otto Brandt, our cattle man, left Monday, for a brief trip to Sacramento.

Tom and Jack Millerick left the latter part of this week for Suisun, to take part in the rodeo which takes place there July 4th. A number of their fine horses were shipped Tuesday. No doubt our expert horsemen will make a fine showing, displaying the exceptional skill and winning as many honors as they did at the Stockton and Bakersfield rodeos.

M. Crandall motored to the City of Roses Wednesday last.

Mrs. Andrew Steiger and daughter Bernice, of the Bay City, are guests this week at the Richard L. Watt home.

Miss Mildred Burchard took her departure, Thursday, for a trip through the Yosemite Valley, and expects to be away about ten days. The children of San Luis school district are going to lose their good teacher, as Miss Burchard expects to teach in the Sonoma grammar school next term.

Deep sympathy is extended to Mr. Carlson of the Waller tract in the loss of his wife, who was buried in San Francisco last Friday.

Mrs. Wm. Clements, accompanied by lady friends, is having a delightful time in the beautiful Yosemite Valley.

After pleasantly spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R L. Watt, Mrs. P. Lincoln and children, Ruth, Jeanette and little John, left for their San Francisco home Tuesday evening.

Friends of Mrs. Jack Gilfoyle will be glad to hear that she is getting along nicely after a successful operation at the Broadway Sanitarium.

Berkeley relatives are having a nice visit this week at the Harold Pauli residence.

Mrs. T. McGill invited a number of Schellville ladies to a "coffee party," Thursday afternoon of last week. The hospitable hostess provided a most pleasurable afternoon for her guests, all voting the occasion one to be most happily remembered.

Mrs. Frank Rose, of the Keiser tract, is enjoying the delights of Southern California, visiting at the present time with Los Angeles relatives.

HAPPY JACK.

BOYES' SPRINGS' HAPPENINGS

(BY ART HICKMAN)

With the breaking up of the State League and the unsuccesssul attempt to combine other towns and make a monoply of baseball will tend to supply the Boyes' Springs diamond with some of the liveliest contests ever afforded the valley people.

Rudy Lichtenburg and "yours truly" took advantage of the present conditions and before the fast organizations had disbanded entirely, they were contracted to play a series of games on the Boyes' grounds, which will bring together such sterling talent as is supported by Santa Rosa, Suisun, Sebastopol, Martinez, Petaluma, Richmond, Crockett, San Rafael and others.

All these towns have been motored to this week and the writer can promise some very large excursions from these towns in the very near future.

Big Bill Hill is a visitor to Boyes' this week, and wants his friends to know that he has discontinued his interests in the Campus in San Francisco. His liking for the almighty dollar was not strong enuf to indulge in the cafe bizz in the big city, where you can't always pick your customers, and are at times forced to cater as it were to people of all classes. Anyone knowing the big Southerner is familiar with the fact that it isn't very much to his liking to be in a position of that kind.

"Bill" will now be identified from Saturday on with one of the largest liquor concerns of Oakland and this will be nearer his better-half and prize baby, they having made their home in Berkeley. Hill will be located at Broadway and Tenth in Oakland, under the wing of the Martin Riehl Co. Pay him a visit. He has not become too citified to find time for the folk from the valley that he loves.

Harry Orndoff, for many years the stage manager of the Orpheum Theatre, is a guest at the above resort. Mr. Orndoff is one of the oldest employees of the San Francisco house, not in years but in service.

I heard that Governor Johnson was quite peeved at the attention he received at the hands of the committee appointed to make things pleasannt for him, so much so that he refused to accept a cigar from one of our leading citizens. Poor thing! I wonder if he would refuse a vote or two if offered him with the same sincerity?

George Kimball, the man who presided over the drums at Boyes' during the Seals training season, is in our midst again. Mr. Kimball, after having a touch of the country life, is bent on securing some permanent berth in the surrounding country in the capacity of furnishing music and the writer can safely recommend him as one of the best in the business. He will entertain offers from reliable resorts and a letter to the writer will be delivered to him. Mr. Kimball has just refused many Lake County positions on account of it being too far away from the big city, where he likes to be in touch on account of his mother not being in the best of health.

Charlie Krieder, the boy that makes the pig skin talk, is again at the drums at Boyes'. Krieder will be remembered as the one who held down this post all last season and the combination of Meyers and Krieder is without an equal. This clever team has already received offers to hold down the music job at Coronada Beach this winter, where the wealthy Easteners make their winter quarters.

Cleve Meyers, the wizard of the ivories at Boyes', is making a trip to the big metropolis and promises to return with the latest melodies that are now on tap in musical realm. Meyers is enjoying an enviable reputation for dance music and anyone that can sit still while he is in action is slated for a miserable existence.

BASEBALL NEWS

(EDITED BY KENNETH WOOD)

After playing six innings of slow, uninteresting baseball, the Sonoma and Winehaven boys suddenly came to life, and last Sunday's contest wasn't so bad after all. The seventh inning was the eventful round when Jim Modini's sluggers proved themselves worthy of their hire. Until then, the whole bunch could have been sold to the Feds for $4.60.

In the sixth, the score was 4 to 2 in favor of Winehaven. The Sonoma boys seemed to lack "pep" and could not hit Pinkerton's curves with effect, but just when we least expected it, a batting rally began. When batting rally No. 1 was over the score was 4 to 4, thus ended the sixth frame.

The seventh inning—the lucky seventh—put the visitors on the short end. Sonoma had three men on and one out when Capt. Evans came to bat. He missed a high one and fouled the next. Then something happened. Evans swung hard on the ball and crowned it—on the level, brought them in, one and all. Oh, you lucky devil! Right after that G. Block made the circut.

In the first of the ninth, Winehaven tried to start something, but they made only two runs.

Final Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Sonoma	9	11	3
Winehaven	6	9	2

Batteries: Helberg and G. Block; Pinkerton and Moss. Umpires: R. LaTorres and J. Poulson.

George Angove Surprised

Last Monday evening, George Angove was delightfully surprised by the Sonoma Boys' Band, in honor of his twentieth birthday. The Band assembled before the Angove residence, and disturbed the medidations of the neighborhood by the popular rendition of "Ach, du liebe Augustin." George rose to the occasion, admitted that he was greatly surprised and welcomed his guests. The Band rendered several selections, demonstrating that they were "some" players. Games were played and prizes won by Archie Revie and Gustav Dresel. The evening was spent delightfully, and at midnight dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Angove, assisted by the Misses Anita Gassner and Marjorie Buchan. Everyone departed at a late hour, declaring their young host "the best ever," and wishing for him many happy birthday anniversaries. Those present were: Messrs. Warren, Carter and P. W. Angove, Archie Revie, Bert Kerner, Ed Palmer, Newton Dal Poggetto, Jack Canaveri, Arthur Fisk, Harold Stockwell, Jerome Jansen, Ralph Buchan, Gustav Dresel, Jack Poulson, George Angove and Hiram, junior.

Sunday Hours at Postoffice.

From now until further notice, the lobby of the postoffice will be open on Sundays from 8 a. m. to 12:30 p m., and remain closed thereafter.

The general delivery window will be open from 11:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., and at no other hours.

No letters will be registered or money orders issued on Sunday.

J. D. WAGNON, P. M.

LOCAL FRATERNITIES ELECT OFFICERS

At the last regular meeting of Sonoma Grove, U. A. O. D., the officers elected to serve for the ensuing term were inducted into office by District Deputy Louis Nessi. The new officers are as follows: P. A., E. Guffanti; N. A., F. Dal Porto; V. A., G. Guidi; I. G., P. Bertolotti; O. G., E. Pasuini; Sec., A. Beretta; Treas., F. Canaveri; D. D., L. Nessi. On that occasion, an official visit was paid Sonoma Grove by Grand Marshal John L. Pollito and Grand Trustee J. P. Enos, of San Francisco. On the conclusion of the lodge session, visitors, officers and members adjourned to the Toscano Hotel, to enjoy a sumptuous banquet. No effort had been spared by Mine Host Ciucci, and the feast was par excellence.

The new officers of Sonoma Parlor of Native Sons will be installed at the second meeting in July, the 20th, by District Deputy Milton Sobbe, as follows: Past Pres., Jesse F. Prestwood; Pres., Geo. McGill; First Vice Pres., John F. Picetti; Second Vice Pres., C. E. Groskopf; Third Vice Pres., J. I Keiser; Sec., L. H. Green; Treas, R. A. Pauli: Marshal, F. C. Helberg; I. S., W. Helberg; O. S., Al Groskopf; Trustees, A. H. Jansen, elected, Phillip Bill, Jr., and Theo. Keiser, holdovers.

"We don't know yet as to whether or not we are to enjoy a banquet," popular Secretary L. H. Green replied to our query. "You see we have been living rather high of late and it may be to our advantage to retrench somewhat. However, that is for later consideration."

The following-named were elected officers for the new term of Verdant Rebekah Lodge, No. 99: Noble Grand, Mrs. Wm. Rambo; Vice Grand, Mrs. Alice Wagnon; Sec., Miss Jessie Hiser; Treas., Mrs. Emily La Torres.

The appointive officers and date of installation have not yet been named.

At Thursday night's meeting of Rebekah Lodge, two new members were received into the order, and a fine banquet enjoyed by the thriving fraternity.

At the regular meeting of Sonoma Valley Council, Y. M. I., held on Thursday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Chaplain, Rev. T. M. Comerford; Pres., M. E. Cummings; First Vice Pres., Dr. I. C. Gobar: Second Vice Pres., W. J. Kehoe; Sec., L. H. Green; Treas., J. N. Dowdall; Marshal, W. J. Kearney; I. S., J. H. Murray; O. S., George Clerc; Executive Committee, R. J. Dowdall, J. Kearney, E. Castignasso; Medical Examiner, Dr. I. C. Gobar.

George Millerick was elected delegate to the Grand Lodge, which convenes in Santa Rosa in August. J. H. Murray was chosen alternate.

Progressive Northern Sonoma

Deputy Sheriff Ryan, very ably backed by his right-hand bower, M. E. Cummings, is doing politics these days, and, therefore, is visiting various sections of the county. Saturday was spent by the gentlemen in Cloverdale, and our candidate for sheriff of Sonoma county was very highly pleased at encouragement given him. "It is beautiful country in and around Cloverdale, Geyserville and Healdsburg, showing every evidence of enterprise, thrift and progressiveness. Nearly every home in town and farm houses along the line are well-kept and attractive," said Mr. Ryan. "During our stay in Healdsburg, in the evening, their fine band was playing, and the pretty public square was dense with people. Healdsburgers received me very cordially, and whether I win or lose, I shall appreciate the many friendships I've made in the northern country."

Cannery to Operate

The Sonoma Valley Cannery, which has been in course of construction at Buena Vista, has been completed and active preparations are in progress for handling the season's crop of fruit. The concern, of which G. Ritz is president, and T. A. Gundy, manager, will commence operations between July fifteenth and twentieth. It has a capacity of from five to ten tons daily, and will give employment to from twenty-five to fifty persons. This is a very commendable industry added to Sonoma's list, and it is to be hoped it will prove a profitable venture for the gentlemen who have engaged in it.

Edward H. Hart for the Congress.

There are Republicans and Republicans in California and nowhere are they in evidence more than in the First Congressional district of this State. The registration for the August primaries and for the general election in November, shows that in voting strength they almost outnumber all the other parties combined. There is a reason for this unprecedented Republican strength and it is this: The mass of the people now realize that a mistake was made at the Presidential election nearly two years ago, transferring the administration of national affairs from the Republican to the Democratic party.

The people also realize, particularly those in the First Congressional district of California, that a terrible blunder was made in electing Wm. Kent to the Congress—an out and out free trader—to the detriment of the wine, wool and hop industries of this Congressional district. This is why they are now declaring themselves in favor of the Republican party in registering as Republicans, and want a change.

A demand has therefore gone forth from the mass of the voters of the State in general and the First Congressional district in particular that the control of national affairs revert back to the Republican party. The registration of voters prove this.

At the August primaries among other candidates whose names will be presented to the voters of this Congressional district to represent them in Washington is that of Edward H. Hart of Marin County, a man in every way qualified to carry out the principles of the Republican party in the three alliteratives—protection, progress and prosperity.

The people now realize they made a grave mistake in not electing him to the Congress two years ago, instead of Kent, who is opposed to the principles of protection which is all but a ruinous policy in a district whose principal products are wine, wool and hops.

Therefore we have no hesitancy in saying with these facts fresh in the minds of the voters of the First Congressional district that Mr. Hart and the principles he stands for will be supported at the polls and that he will be triumphantly elected.

Candidates for County Offices

Under the present primary election law, which candidly we think no good, everybody is given a chance to run for any office. However, such is the law and we must all abide by it. The result is that a large number of aspirants are in the field for political preferment at the primary election to be held in the county on August 25th.

A number of these candidates have announced themselves in these columns, and desire the support of their friends for a place on the ballot at the general election to be held on November 3d.

Among these is Joe Ryan, who aspires to the office of sheriff of Sonoma county. He has been prevailed upon to run for this office by the citizenship of Sonoma county, regardless of political affiliations, "sex or previous conditions." Joe has been a deputy sheriff of this county for many years, and has won the distinction of being one of the most noted peace officers in all California. He has made a remarkable record for capturing offenders against our laws, and in this respect has had no equal the past fifteen years. It is on this record he is asking your suffrage, and you will make no mistake in voting for him.

For county treasurer the name of James W. Ramage will be found in our political announcement column. Mr. Ramage, who is a resident of Santa Rosa, has been identified with the Press-Democrat for fourteen years as circulation manager of that newspaper. He is very popular all over this county, in which he has lived for twenty-six years, and we take pleasure in recommending him to the good offices of the men and women voters who go to the polls on August 25th.

Jos. P. Berry, incumbent, announces himself for re-election to the office of county assessor. Appointed to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Frank E. Dowd, he has made good in conducting the office, and has been urged by property-owners all over the county to enter the race for a full term of four years.

Frank M. Collins, incumbent, is out for re-election to theoffice of county tax collector. He has had much experience as a tax collector, not only for the county but also as a city official of Petaluma previous to filling his present position. Frank is mighty popular all along the line and has many followers.

J. C. "Hoke" Smith, as he is familiarly known among his old friends and associates, is one of the several aspirants for county assessor. For years he was chief deputy under Frank E. Dowd, one of the best assessors this county has ever known. He is admirably qualified for the position and if elected to the office will make good. There can be no doubt about this.

Capt. O. L. Houts, a well-known bnsiness man of Santa Rosa, has also been urged to run for county assessor. He is a very popular man in his section and will put up a strong fight for a place on the ticket, although he has many competitors in the field.

Last but not least the announcement of M. R. (Mike) Ridley for tax collector will be found in our political column. Mr. Ridley, who resides in Santa Rosa, is a retired railroad man, and well-known all over the county, having been in the employ of the Southern Pacific Railroad, on its run from Santa Rosa to South Vallejo, for many years. "Mike," as he is familiarly called, endeared himself to thousands of travelers by his genial and accommodating ways in looking after their wants. Many of these will not forget him, either, on election day.

Anti-Prohibition Demonstration

It was the greatest parade and demonstration seen in Cincinnati, or the State of Ohio, on May the 22nd last, since the days of the war of secession in 1861-1865. It was the greatest living protest against the slavery to the will of others and proclaiming the liberty of the individual filed in the United States since the Civil War.

Among other brilliant speakers, the address of Congressman Benholdt of Missouri was notable for its compact reasoning, its force and eloquence. He summed up ten counts against prohibition as follows:

First—Prohibition is a death-blow to the liberty of the individual, because it prohibits what is not wrong in itself.

Second—Prohibition runs counter to human nature, because the taste and appetite of man cannot be regulated or extinguished by law. We cannot remove temptation, but we can and should by discipline and training strengthen our power of resistance against temptation.

Third—Prohibition undermines manliness. Its premise is that men are children, who must be led by the leading-strings of law. Our conception, however, is that a man should voluntarily do the right and avoid the wrong, and that an interference with his self-control in personal matters is slavery pure and simple.

Fourth—Prohibition undermines respect for law. A thousand ways will be found to evade the law, and the result will be a nation of law-breakers.

Fifth—National prohibition by constitutioaal amendment is unworthy of a great people. A constitution should be a bill of rights for the protection of life, liberty and property, and especially for the protection of the minority.

Sixth—National prohibition means the complete subversion of the fundamental theories upon which our system of government rests.

Seventh—Prohibition means the confiscation of property valued at over a billion dollars, property which has been acquired legally and strictly in accordance with State and Federal law. Even if all the arguments of the Prohibitionists were true, it is inconceivable that a nation whose sense of fair play is proverbial, would seriously permit the wanton destruction of such gigantic values.

Eighth—Prohibition will take the bread from the mouths of hundreds of thousands of employees and workmen, not only of those employed in the breweries, distilleries and vineyards, but also of its many collateral trades.

Nineth—Prohibition will cause a deficit in the National Treasury of at least two hundred and thirty million dollars a year.

Tenth—Prohibition does not prohibit, and for this assertion, the speaker submitted incontrovertible proof.

BUILDERS OF THE WEST

Excerpts from Sermon Delivered by Rev. D. J. Kavanagh, S. J., at Restoration of Mission San Francisco de Solano, Sunday, June 14, 1914.

We had hoped to have presented in its entirety Father Kavanagh's sermon, but space forbids, hence we have taken therefrom extracts touching directly upon historic facts. The spiritual worth of the sermon is not to be lost, however, as a complete reproduction of this fine address will appear in the Sonoma Catholic Directory, now in the hands of the printer.

The gifted divine spoke as follows:

It is not mere sentimental enthusiasm that has prompted you to come to the historic city of Sonoma today: you have come to show your sincere appreciation of the noble work of the Native Sons who, with generous magnanimity, restored to its primitive humble grandeur the old Mission of San Francisco de Solano, after the neglect of years and the desecration of worldly use. You have come moreover, to revere the memory of the heroic sons of St. Francis and to study the nobility of their Christ-like lives. Sentiment there is in it all, to be sure, but it is sentiment of that kind, which, while revelling in the glories of California's past, will contribute much, if properly cultivated, to the glorification of California's future.

You who are native sons and daughters of California feel proud of the land that gave you birth; not only because it is blessed by God with perpetual sunshine and a loveableness that knows no equal, but also because it has been blessed by man, because it contains memories of pioneer heroism as indelibly imprinted on your minds as they are, in the strictest sense of the word, sacred. I refer not to the sturdy heroism of your fathers who crossed the plains and faced the hardships and the privations of frontier life; I refer rather—because the thought is better suited to justify the pride that fills your hearts today—to the heroism of those who were in California before your fathers' fathers were born.

You call yourselves the Sons and Daughters of the Golden West and you do well, for it is golden indeed. There are veins of gold in your stately mountain ranges, at morn the portals of the East are flushed with gold, the sunset glow of evening is golden, your fields are golden, too, with ripening grain and on your trees there hangs the golden fruit: but as the gold of your mountains is mostly dross and oftentimes the source of moral mischief, and the figurative gold of your sky and field and orange grove grows dim and fades with time, you will have to look for something more precious, something more lasting, if you want to justify the pride that fills your hearts. You will find that something far more precious, far more enduring, if you look back to the golden deeds of the devoted sons of St. Francis. They are not dross, neither will they fade. Written in characters of gold in the book of life and in the memory of those whose boast is to be natives of California, they stand before the world as admirable and as glorious as the achievements of the world's greatest heroes.

[illegible]s of Spain had sent word [illegible] the Jesuit Missionaries in [illegible]nies should be taken as [illegible] and deported. When [illegible]ing Franciscans met the [illegible] Jesuits, they were not [illegible]icated enough to imagine [illegible] treatment was in store [illegible] Still it was for God and [illegible] that they meant to toil. [illegible] immortal souls and not [illegible] praise that they were to [illegible] themselves and come what [illegible]ersecutions, calumnies, im[illegible]ment or death—they would [illegible]ke up the work fearlessly for His sake; and, upheld by His grace Who died for all mankind, they would continue in the work to the end.

When from our twentieth century elevation we look back on the heroic Mission days and on the career of the heroic Missionaries, and see them scaling the mountains, through thick brush and over rock-built cliffs; when we think of their journeys by land and sea, of the hardship's of summer's heat and the privations of winter's cold, we think unconsciously of Him who described Himself as the Good Shepherd; but still there rises to our lips a little question: what was the use of it all? We know something about barbarism, civilized barbarism and uncivilized barbarism and we sometimes imagine that it were far better to leave the children of the wilderness alone. Self-sacrificing the old padres were, to be sure, well intentioned and kind, religious beyond comparison and zealous, but still, what was the use? What was the use?

If you ask that question as merely utilitarian, I answer: "Look around you, examine the State which you call your own, think of its riches, its fertile soil, its wonderful harbors, its wooded mountains, its lakes, its rivers, its vales—think of its loveliness, how it is the home of all that tropical climes may boast without the inconveniences of excessive heat; think of how from branch to branch the winged songsters love to play and mingle their strains with the heavenly perfume that rises incense-like from the orange blossoms and floats sweetly through the air; think how its present resources and its future prospects cause the name of California to ring throughout the world and then remember that the prosperity which you now reap was sown by the padres; that the land which you call your own and of which you are so proud is a heritage from them to you, for they were the explorers, the first civilized occupants, the pathfinders, the Builders of the West.

Father Juniper and his little band of Missionaries, Palou, Crespi, De Lape a Murguia and the rest, because they were Apostles, and as Apostles had a motive that would not stop at difficulties, nor yield to discouragement, scaled your mountain ranges, traced your rivers from their source to where they emptied into the sea, surveyed your valleys, discovered your harbors, in one word, found an empire greater than Italy, greater than France, greater than Spain, in territorial extent, and gave that empire to you.

Christ himself has given us a standard by which to judge them, and it is this: "By their fruits you shall know them." Fortunately we are possessed of very reliable records of the Missionaries' achievements. When for purposes which we need not discuss, the Mexican Government secularized the Missions, that is to say, when the administration of the affairs of the natives was taken from the padres and given to the politicians, a detailed record was made of all the Mission establishments. In the baptismal registers of 1834, we find that from the establishment of the first Mission in 1769, there were 89,800 baptisms. The records extend over a period of sixty-five years, but if you remember that some Missions were not established until the early part of the nineteenth century—the one where we now stand not until 1823, San Rafael in 1817, San Jose in 1797, and the rest at intermediate periods, you will agree with me when I say that the average age of the Mission was much less than fifty years; 89,800 baptisms in fifty years. It means 1,796 baptisms each year, and this means an average of thirty-five baptisms a week. Thirty-five baptisms a week for a period of fifty years is, I think, sufficient proof that the labor of the padres bore some fruit.

If any of you demand material results, material results you may have. Civilization has ever gone hand in hand with Christianization. We measure civilization sometime, and the standard is good as far as it goes, but it is not infallible, by material prosperity. Measure the civilization of the California Indians by this standard and you will find it great indeed.

But where are the Indians now? You know where they are. They are dead and buried and, as far as this side of eternity is concerned, they are forgotten. I shall not delay upon the tragedy which this thought suggests. They were robbed, they were exiled, they were gradually but surely exterminated. So were the padres robbed, and exiled, and hurried, in some instances to an early grave.

A nation cannot be unjust. Nearly nineteen hundred years ago there stood upon the porch of Pilate, the humble Son of a Carpenter, as was thought. At His side there stood Pilate, the representative of the greatest nation in the history of the world. Pilate condemned the Carpenter's Son, and the nation which he represented has ceased to be; nothing but broken arches and ruined palaces remain to tell of the glory that once was Rome's. A nation cannot be unjust and flourish. God punishes individuals in the next world; He punishes nations in this. Spain and Portugal persecuted their Missionaries and Spain and Portugal lost their colonies. Mexico confiscated the property of the California Indians and Mexico lost California. Strange as it may seem to those of you who are not acquainted with the history of the Missions, we are now standing on a spot which figured prominently in the work of spoilation. The Mission of San Francisco de Solano was built as a refuge for the exiled Indians of Mission San Rafael and San Francisco de Asis. Strange too, that in this very place, where Mexico offended, Mexico should receive the first unsettling blow. Some people are not enthusiastic admirers of the Bear Flag incident, nor of the men who, without any authorization raised it here; but I think that we may see in its uncouth design if not a harbinger at least a hastener of that other banner which floats in triumph now and which, with God's help, will continue to float and to shake from its graceful folds the blessings of American freedom and of American citizenship over the land made sacred by the first fruits of the padres. If I were asked to suggest an inscription that would cover the whole story of Missionary zeal, of Mexican ingratitude and greed, and of American occupation, I could think of none better than that contained in words which the Savior of the World addressed to another ungrateful people, "The Kingdom of Heaven shall be taken from you and given to a nation yielding the fruits thereof."

It would not make us unduly conceited, it would not make us forget our own weakness, it would serve rather as a reminder that we must learn by the faults of others and live righteously and do justice to all men, if we hape for God's blessing on ourselves and on our beloved State.

Native Daughters and Native Sons of the Golden West, you do not forget, nay you cannot forget the heroic, Christ like lives of the Franciscan Missionaries. If it should come to pass—which may God forbid, and a zeal like that manifested in the reconstruction of this Mission, prevent—that of all the once glorious mission buildings, that stretch like land marks from San Diego to Sonoma, not a stone should remain upon a stone, or, to speak more accurately, if the adobe walls of the mission churches should crumble and resolve themselves into their aboriginal clay,—still as long as we have the cities of Our Lady of the Angels, of St. Francis, of St. Joseph and the rest, as long as we gaze with admirationon the mountains of Holy Mary, of St. Agnes, of St. Lucy, or breathe the balmy air of the valleys of St. Joachim, of St. Rose, of St. Claire, as long, in a word, as the cities and valleys, the mountains and streams, the islands and the harbors present the litany of saints that has been bequeathed to us,—so long will the memory of the Franciscan Padres be green, so long will their fame endure and the memory of their golden deeds be held in benediction by the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West.

LOVEALL VALLEY ON THE MARKET

secure a tract of land on which there was such an abundance of feed, as he had been accustomed to Loveall Valley for so many years.

This year the Rich. Waller Company had 400 acres of the valley planted to oats, Rocco Ghisletta of Sears Point doing the work. As was expected, the crop has proved an enormous one. An estimate of it on June 10th, was that it would run anywhere from 5,000 to 6,000 sacks of oats. This is by far the largest crop of oats for this acreage which we have heard of in this section of Sonoma county for many years.

This, we understand, is the last tract of land which the Rich. Waller Company has in this section, and if it meets with as ready sale as the tracts which they have previously put on the market, it will be but a few months when we will be be welcoming a large number of new settlers to our midst.

ening the distance from Sonoma several miles, and being a better grade than the old Napa road.

Loveall Valley will be remembered by many of our old-timers as being in vinevard some thirty or forty years ago. At this time it was considered to be one of the best in the State, and it was one of the enterprises which General Vallejo was much interested in.

General Vallejo's enterprise in establishing a large vineyard in Loveall Valley, had much to do with ultimately making California the great wine-producing State it now is. Of recent years, the valley has been devoted to dairy purposes by Victor Sartoni, under lease, but when it was decided last year to sell the property, Mr. Sartoni was compelled to sell out his dairy, as he found it impossible to

We understand that the Rich. Waller Company of San Francisco, which has been operating in this Valley so extensively in the past few years, is now about to put on the market that part of its "Sonoma Mission Farms" property at Buena Vista, known as Loveall Valley.

This will be good news to many of our readers, as a number of our old residents have been waiting for this tract to open up for some time, so that they could secure some of this land.

Under the directions of Roadmaster Potter, assisted by Ralph Thompson and his tractor several miles of fine road have been laid out, and it is now an easy matter to get from town to the valley. It is about a three-mile drive; the roads are good, and in fact, it is thought that this road from Sonoma through Loveall Valley will become a popular one, within a short time, as a short-cut to Napa, short-

JAMES McCHRISTIAN PASSES AWAY

Monday morning, at his home near Sebastopol, the aged pioneer and Bear Flag survivor, who had the supreme joy of living to see the raising of the Bear Flag immortalized in bronze, gave up the hard-fought struggle and passed to eternal rest.

James McChristian was born in Rochester, New York, 1827. He was of Irish-American parentage, his mother being a native of Vermont, and a granddaughter of Colonel Benjamin Church, famed in the French and Indian wars. With his parents, deceased moved to the state of Missouri in 1843, and '45 crossed the plains to California, locating in Napa county. When, in 1846, the family located in Sonoma, they had no foresight that young James was to be an eye-witness to one of the most notable events to be recorded in the history of California.

Although enfeebled, the distinguished pioneer took keen interest in the important ceremonies, but yet he felt the near approach of the grim messenger. "This, I am sure, will be my last visit to your city," said the venerable gentleman to an Index-Tribune representative, "since I have been stricken with paralysis, I feel my weakness becoming greater from day to day. But I ought to be satisfied. I have lived, I think, the usual period allotted to man. I am very happy that I am able to be present at the unveiling of the monument."

Undoubtedly, the unusual excitement and excessive heat proved too strenuous for the pioneer, hastening the end with regrettable rapidity.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon, Sebastopol Parlor of Native Sons attending the obsequies in a body.
